CybEdoo

In this day and era of digital literacy, each academic institution has a problem in managing and executing both academic and administrative activities to their full potential. The organisation must rely on many digital suites for each and every functionality, and their interoperability adds to the overall strain. CybEdoo was founded with the objective of connecting all stakeholders of an academic organisation, including parents, professors, and students, to a basic level and overcoming the dramatic changes occurring in digital learning.

CybEdoo is a unique comprehensive web and mobile application based software designed particularly to scrutinize and augment an educational institution's full operation. CybEdoo complements not just the specified academic attire, but the client's ability to personalise the software at each and every institutional level as per their requirements making it convenient for everyone. Top management can reprogramme access to each module based on the authorization granted by them for each stakeholder, which includes students, tutors, parents, and so on. This can also be converted into a dynamic learning platform
